FINANCE AND TRADE.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS were quiet again yesterday-to the reporter, who does best in bustle, and changes and the whirl of events-disgustingly so, but the quiet is a symptom of returning health after the late panic. Exchange was the only thing on which there is a word to say. At one of the principal banks the rate on New Orleans was back again to delsewhere discount. New York par buying and | premium selling, and Boston and other eastern points at par, as before. The offerings of exchange were light. Some brokers were paying 110) for gold, others 111). Money remains plentiful, with few applications from borowers of a standing to meet with attention. Stocks, scrips and bonds were as quiet as a brood of chickens from a nest of boiled eggs.

THE COTTON MARKET yesterday showed signs of demoralization; few buyers participated, and those usually at a reduction from established rates. Owing to an exporter having filled an order, the sales, though not large, look better than those of the two preceding days. New York was dull at 16c, but the unofficial quotation said 16tc. New Orleans was lower, quoting middling 15de. Liverpool was also lower; 71 @7id. The closing rate in Savannah was 154c; Mobile, 154c; Charleston, 15c; Galveston, 15ic; Memphis, 15ic. In our market the following prices, on actual sales, were reported in answer to our inquiries: Stained cottons at 104c, 124c, 13c; low ordinary, 7@8c; ordinary, 9@ 10c; strict ordinary, 10]@11]c; good or-dinary, 12]@12]c; strict good ordinary, 13[@13]c; one of the principal buyers of the day reported about 300 bales, con-sisting of barely middling at 13]c, and average middling at 13]c, the grading according to the exchange types; an-other buyer reports over 20 bales strict low middling at 14 c; some middling was taken at 15c, and strict middling at 15c. The official figures of the cotton exchange were as follows:

Market closed dull and irregular, sales 900 bales, of which spinners took 600 and exporters 300 bales. Receipts at the United States ports for four days, week, and 41,072 bales last year during the same period. COTTON STATEMENT.

The New Orleans Times of February 28th says: "The receipts both at this port and all the ports have shown some alling off, but not sufficient to have much influence, and long crop views are adhered to, leaning 4,250,000 bales, while short crop point to 3,899,000 to 4,000,000,22 The New Orleans Picayone, same date, reports: "Receipts at the ports continue Market quiet; middling, 15/6c; sales, 1600 bales; last evening, 203 bales; receipts, 5327 bales, Freights—Liverpool, sali, 56; steam, 11-16; New York, steam, 56.

At this port there is less coming in than last year by forty per cent., showing that a large proportion of the increase in receipts this season is due rather to a more hasty movement of the crop in the sections tributary to this market than in-creased production." The New York Bulletin, February 28th, stated: "There was a quiet, steady market for cotton on the spot, There was more spinning demand and a little speculation, but the market was, on the whole, as described by a leading broker—it had the "dry rot." Receivers find it difficult to keep the wharves clear without breaking down wharves clear without breaking down prices; a proceeding they are not quite ready for. For future delivery the market opened quite weak, but later, with firmness in gold, and the receipts proving to be less general than was expected, reducing the total for the week to about that of the corresponding week last year, there was a recovery of tone and a firm closing, except for the later months, which were at about the lowest prices of the day.

THE GENERAL MARKET was less lively yesterday than on Monday, but was more active than during last week; this is saying but little, however, for the best is but dull just now. Corm showed a little improvement, sales of choice being made at 75½c. Oats are stagnant. Bran is equally so. Hay remains quiet and unchanged. Commeal continues to sell at $3.50 and $3.55 on the landing. Potators, it is claimed, are a little stronger; peachblows especially. Eggs continue to droop, and we lower quotations. Poultry is veryquiet with no change; the commoner kind of chickens were weaker. Bull veryquiet with no change; the commoner kind of chickens were weaker. Bulk pork and other hog products we quote without change; stocks are declining, and there is hesitation in filling up in the present state of first markets. The following quotations are from the St. Louis Democrat of Monday: "Corn was dull, unsettled and lower; several boats got in from above with some 50,000 Whisky, Sic.
